He was appointed Secretary General by the Management Council during the 1981 Geneva Meetings. As from 1999, according to the new FIM Statutes, the title was changed to "Chief Executive Officer". During these 33 years, he worked at the FIM for five different Presidents: Nicolas Rodil del Valle (1978-1983), Nicolas Schmit (1983-1989), Jos Vaessen (1989-1995), Francesco Zerbi (1995-2006), Vito Ippolito (2006-2011). Guy Maitre retired on 31st December 2011.

Rob Rasor (USA- FIM Family)

Robert Rasor has served the motorcycling community in various positions for a period of 43 years dating back to 1973. In 1992, he was named to the working group on the Environment charged with drafting the first FIM Environmental Code. In 1996, he chaired the first Conference on Road Safety in Luxemburg. He served as President of the AMA from 2000-2006. Rob Rasor was member of the FIM Board from 2006-2016, FIM Vice-President in 2005 and from 2011 to 2015. He was named FIM Honorary Vice President in 2017. He served as chairman of the first ever FIM Strategic plan and Working party on Alternative Energy resulting in recommendations for the initial rules governing alternative fuels and electric racing. During the General assembly in Monaco in December 2019, Rob Rasor was awarded with the Nicolas Rodil Del Valle Medal.

Juha Salminen (FIN-Enduro)

Juha Salminen is arguably the greatest rider ever to compete in the FIM Enduro World Championships. The Finnish legend won his first title in 1999, aged 22, and would go on to take thirteen FIM Individual World Champion titles - as well as seven Team World Championship titles in the FIM International Six Days of Enduro. After his sixth consecutive title in 2004, Salminen went to the United States and dominated the Grand National Cross-Country series for two years, becoming the first European to be recognised by the AMA as their Amateur Athlete of the Year title.

Joel Robert (BEL-Motocross)

Joel Robert was for many years the most successful rider in the history of the FIM Motocross World Championship, with no fewer than six 250cc titles and fifty Grand Prix victories to his name. The Belgian won his first title as a privateer at the age of just twenty back in 1964, before later claiming five straight championships from 1968 to 1972. Robert was instrumental in the success of the motocross in the USA, inspiring young American racers and winning seven Trans Am Nationals during the 1970 and 1971 seasons.

2020-2021 FIM Awards Monte Carlo / Monaco

Franco Uncini (ITA-Circuit Racing / Courses sur Circuit)

Before Valentino Rossi turned the sport on its head, Franco Uncini was Italy's 500cc GP racing's last world title-winning hero having been crowned FIM 500cc Grand Prix World Champion in 1982. After starting his professional career in the 750cc class, Uncini made his World championship debut in 1976 contesting the 350cc class for Yamaha where he made an immediate impact with two podiums in his rookie season. The following year he won two 250cc GPs for Harley Davidson on his way to second in the World and after returning to Yamaha in 1978 he scored a couple of 250cc podium finishes, but could not replicate his form of the previous season. Moving into the premier 500cc class in 1979, two successful years followed as a privateer when he finished fifth and then fourth, although his 1981 season was marred by crashes. In 1982 he landed a factory Suzuki deal and claimed the biggest prize in global road racing. In a field packed with factory bikes and famous names including Randy Mamola, Kenny Roberts and Barry Sheene, Uncini was fourth at the opening round of the year in Argentina before embarking on a run of seven podiums - including wins in Austria, the Netherlands, Yugoslavia, Great Britain and at the GP of Nations - that carried him to the title with three rounds still to go. His title defence came to a premature halt with a huge crash at Assen, though he returned for two further seasons before retiring at the end of 1985.

Bernie Schreiber (USA-Trial)

It is hard to believe that Bernie Schreiber is the USA's first and only FIM Trial World Champion. Coming from a nation with such a rich recent history of two-wheeled motorsport success, the dashing sixty-two-year-old occupies a unique position in America's off-road folklore. Tall, handsome and with style for miles, he had the same aura of California coolness that the likes of Bob Hannah and Broc Glover exuded, but while they inspired a generation of US motocross racers, Schreiber's impact was felt mainly in Europe. Now living in Switzerland, he may have moved away from his home state over forty years ago, but he still possesses that laidback, easy-going SoCal cool. The impact Schreiber had on the World trial scene of the late 1970s should not be under-estimated. At the time the sport was dominated by ice-cool Scandinavian riders - plus a handful of hardmen from the north of England - and Schreiber brought with him a flair and a new style of riding that had previously not been witnessed. Schreiber made his World Trial debut - although at the time it was still classified as a European Championship - at Saddleback Park in 1974 but was too young to be officially classified in the results and three years later he crossed the Atlantic and embarked on his first full World Championship campaign. Finishing seventh in his debut season, he improved to third the following year before claiming an historic title in 1979. A move from the established Bultaco marque to an under-developed Italjet in 1980 proved to change his fortunes and although he went on to finish vice-champion on three occasions and win another twelve World Trial rounds, he retired from World Championship competition in 1987 without taking another title.

Cyril Despres (FRA-Cross-Country Rallies / Rallyes Tout Terrain)

In an event where just finishing is a monumental achievement, Cyril Despres has proven himself to be the master of the infamous Dakar Rally not once, but five times to cement his position as a bona fide legend of quite possibly the most demanding discipline in motorcycle sport. In the space of nine years the forty-seven-year-old Frenchman won the event five times including back-to-back victories in 2012 and 2013.

The son of restaurateurs, Despres kicked off his off-road career in 1998 and won a national title in his rookie season and two years later competed in his first Dakar, finishing sixteenth. His first stage win came the following year and he began a run of ten consecutive podium finishes in 2003 - a remarkable achievement in an event that is such a notorious war of attrition. Despres is also an accomplished extreme enduro competitor and has won the Red Bull Romaniacs three times and the Erzberg Rodeo twice, although more recently his focus has shifted to four wheels - with considerable success. Although he has yet to hit the same dizzying heights with his left foot as he has with his right hand, Despres has driven to a Dakar podium finish and has also achieved victories at the punishing Silk Road Rally.

Greg Hancock (USA-Speedway)

Not many riders can boast of a World Championship-winning career that stretches over twenty-four years and three decades, but not many riders are speedway legends like Greg Hancock. The fifty-one-year-old Californian has enjoyed a longevity that belies the physical punishment a sport like speedway routinely dishes out - the expression 'when the going gets tough, the tough get going' could have been coined especially for him. After starting out racing junior speedway in Southern California, he made his British debut while still a teenager all the way back in 1989. His first World crown came in 1992 at Lonigo in Italy when he won the FIM Pairs World Championship and the same year he collected the first of three FIM Team World Cups. Hancock was forced to wait a further five years before he won his first FIM Speedway World Championship and then another fourteen before he won his second in 2011. Thankfully, he did not need to be too patient for his third with his hat-trick coming in 2014 and two years later he became the oldest FIM Speedway World Champion aged forty-six years and one-hundred-and-thirty days. Still racing, he will forever be associated with the number forty-five which he started using once his mentor Bruce Penhall retired.

2022 FIM Awards Rimini - Italy / *ItaliePetteri Silván (FIN-Enduro)

Five-time World Enduro Champion (including the overall world championship title in 1999), he is also a four-time winner of the International Six Days Enduro (ISDE) World Trophy with Team Finland.

Silván won the Finnish rounds of the World Enduro Championship in 1991, which earned him a factory team contract with Husqvarna for the following season. Riding in the 125 cc world championship for Husqvarna, he finished runner-up to Paul Edmondson in 1994 and then won his first world title in 1995. After an injury-filled 1996 season, Silván switched to Gas Gas and the 250 cc class, and won his second title in 1999. In 2000, he returned to Husqvarna and the smaller class, finishing second to KTM's dominant Juha Salminen who won all the ten rounds of the season. In the following years, he won his third and fourth world championship titles with Husqvarna before moving to KTM. Silván retired from the World Enduro Championship after the 2005 season, and has since competed in the Finnish national championship.

Jason Crump (GBR-Track Racing)

Former international motorcycle speedway rider from Australia, he is a three-time Speedway World Champion, a World Cup winner and a former World Under-21 Champion.

In a 21-year career in Speedway, Jason Crump finished with 7 World Championship titles to his name (4 individual including the U/21 title, and 3 teams), making him one of the most successful Australian motorcycle racers of all time (including road racing, speedway and motocross). He holds the all-time record for Grand Prix wins with 23.
